Here you can see all the teams you have access to and have created. Teams is a way to collaborate with other members on a project.

On the left pane you see all the teams you are member of.

10

You can create a team by click on the "+" button.

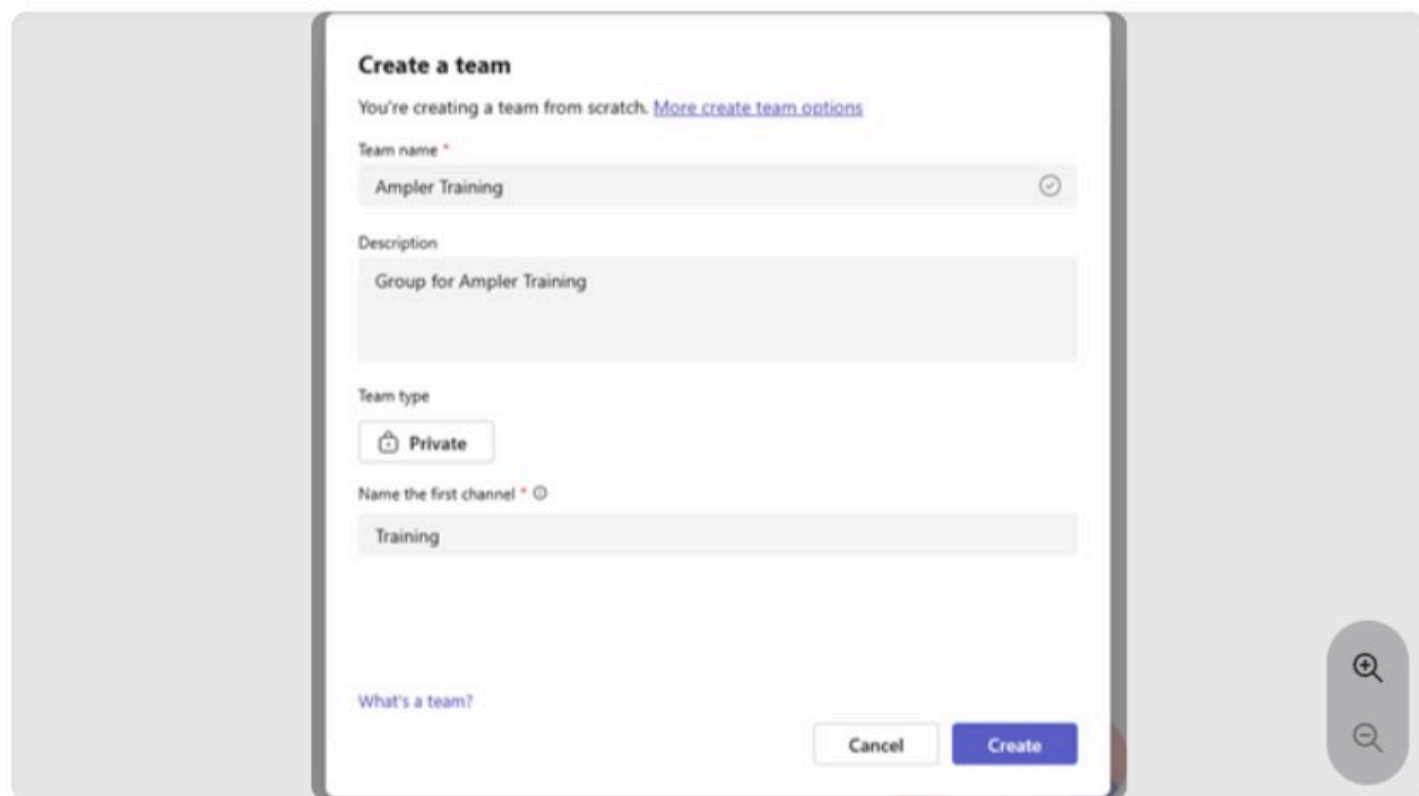

11

Fill in all the details for the team you want to create.

Team Type: Private (Makes sure no one can find the teams channel, only owners of the team can invite others into the channel)

Team Type: Public (Anyone can search for the Teams channel and join)

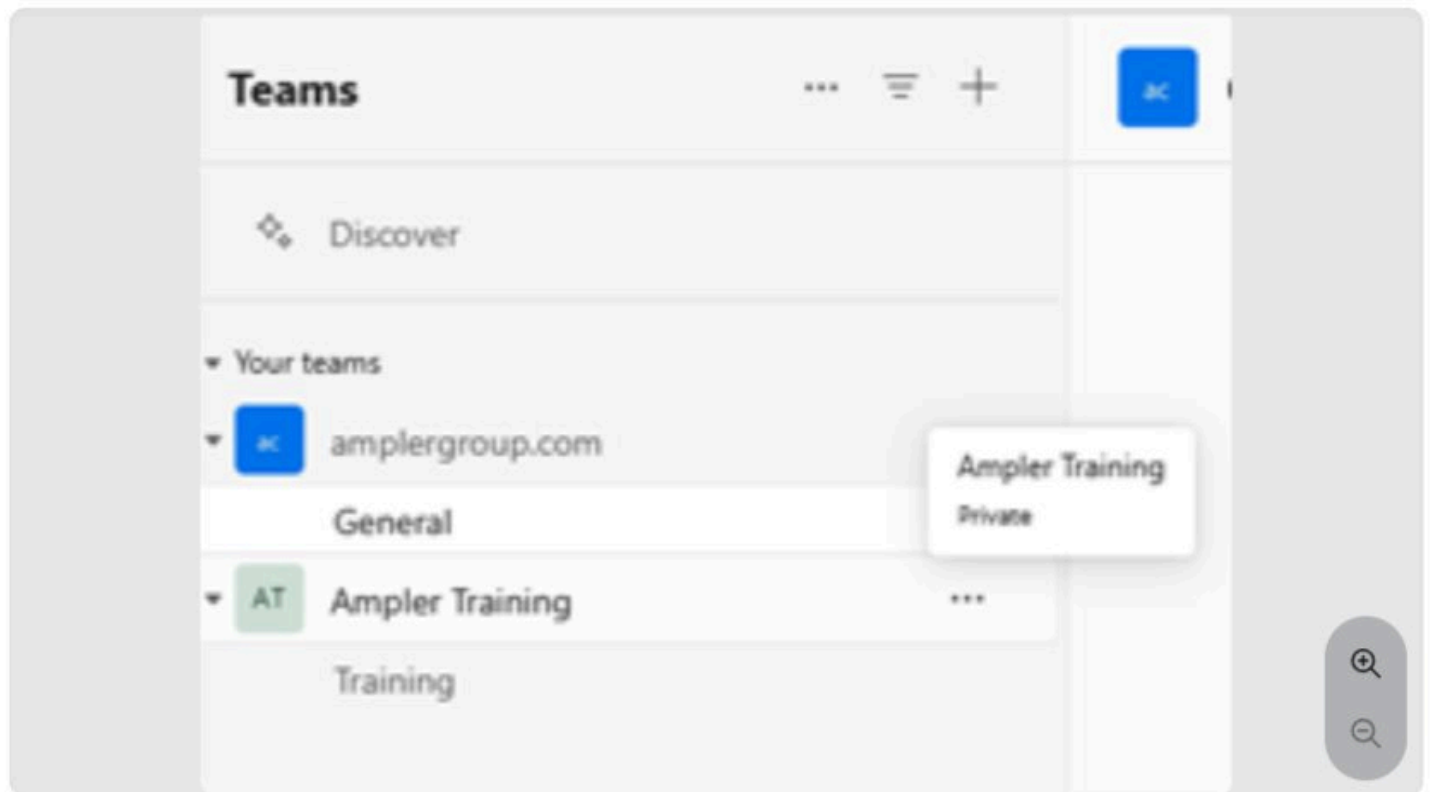

The screenshot shows the 'Create a team' dialog box in Microsoft Teams. The dialog is titled 'Create a team' and contains the following fields and options:

- Team name : A text input field containing 'Amplifier Training'.
- Description: A text input field containing 'Group for Amplifier Training'.
- Team type: A button labeled 'Private' with a lock icon.
- Name the first channel : A text input field containing 'Training'.
- What's a team?: A link at the bottom left.
- Buttons: 'Cancel' and 'Create' buttons at the bottom right.

The dialog is set against a light gray background with a dark gray sidebar on the right containing search and navigation icons.

12

To manage a team, click on the 3 dots against the team and go to "Manage team"

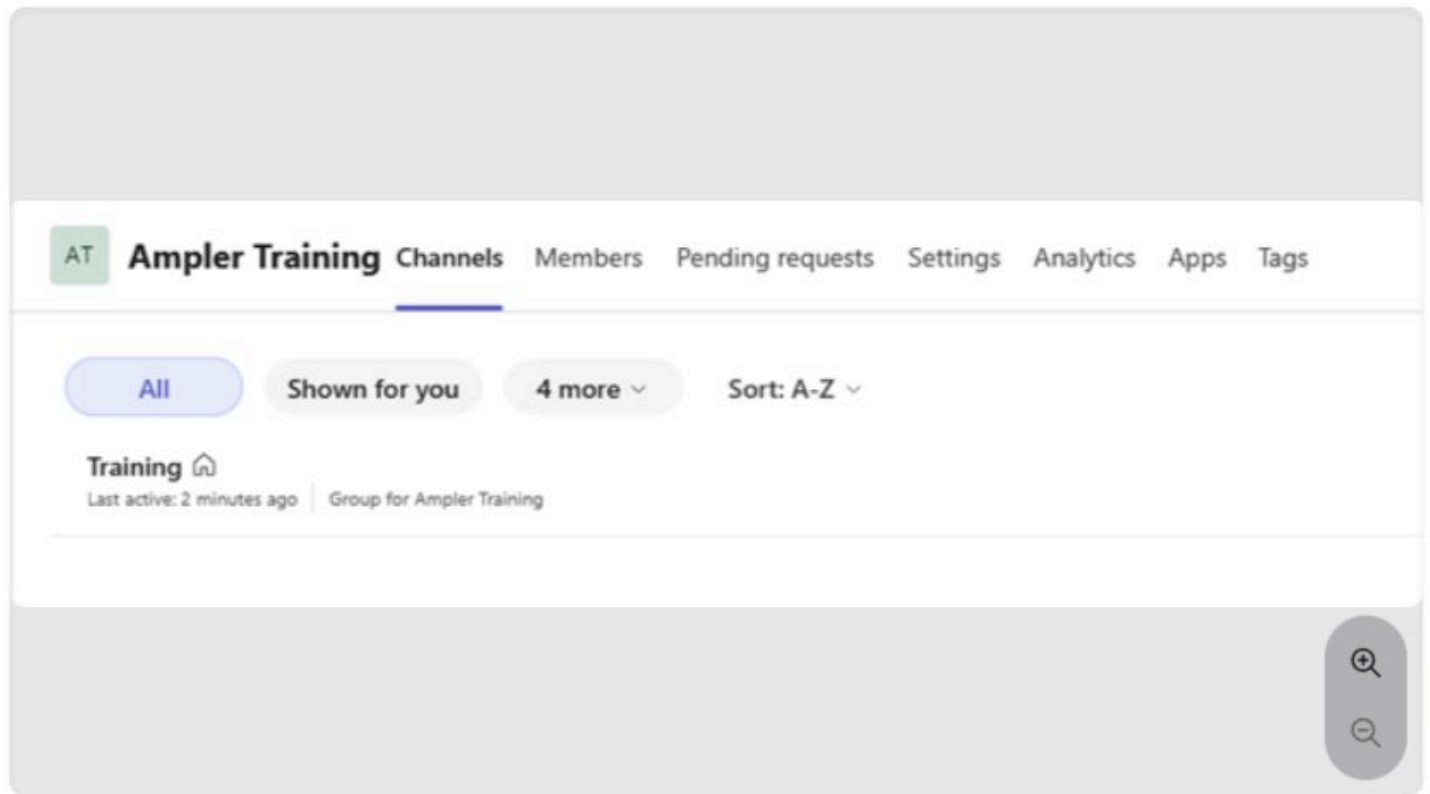

13

You have various Teams management options here

Channels: add or edit Channels within a team

Members: Add or remove members. Add other members as owners

Pending Requests: Check for Requests to join the team

Click on "Members" and "+ Add member"

The screenshot shows the Slack interface for the 'Ampler Training' channel. The top navigation bar includes tabs for 'Channels', 'Members', 'Pending requests', 'Settings', 'Analytics', 'Apps', and 'Tags'. The 'Members' tab is selected and underlined. Below the navigation bar, there is a '+ Add member' button. Two red arrows point to the '+ Add member' button and the 'Members' tab. Below the button, there is a section for 'Owners (1)' with a table showing the owner 'Ampler Training'. Below this, there is a section for 'Members and guests (0)'. A search bar is visible in the bottom right corner.
